

Sampling Conditions and Numerical Analysis for 3D Helical CT

Adel Faridani

Department of Mathematics
Oregon State University
faridani@math.oregonstate.edu

March 29, 2007

Abstract

A major development in 3D computed tomography in recent years has been the emergence of theoretically exact reconstruction algorithms.

This talk reports on ongoing investigations with regard to optimal sampling and numerical analysis for a filtered backprojection type algorithm based on Katsevich's exact reconstruction formula for 3D helical computed tomography.